

DROPBOX - DATA HORDERS

BY BRANDON BEILIS

INT. FAMILY HOME - LIVINGROOM - DAY

The room is quiet. A family (WIFE, SON, DAUGHTER and GRANDPA) sits nervously on chairs in a circle. They are trying to stay calm.

INT. FAMILY HOME - FOYER - CONTINUOUS

HARRY, 34, a little sloppy enters through the front door. He carries a laptop and a phone.

Harry puts his keys on their hook and heads for the livingroom.

INT. FAMILY HOME - LIVINGROOM - CONTINUOUS

Harry enters the livingroom and looks up, startled.

HARRY

What... what is this?

GERTRUDE, 55, intervention specialist, stays seated.

GERTRUDE

Hello Harry. Welcome.

She motions to the empty chair.

GERTRUDE (CONT'D)

Please, come join us.

SUPER: HARRY DOESN'T THINK HE HAS A PROBLEM. HIS FAMILY IS HERE TO HELP.

Wife looks glaringly at Harry.

WIFE

I have had enough of this. You don't care about our data!

Daughter starts to get emotional.

DAUGHTER

When I want to send my photos to the cloud, it asks if I wanna buy more data.

Son claps angrily at his father.

SON

We just bought data!

Grandpa sits, silently sleeping on the recliner.

GERTRUDE

Harry, will you get help? For your family...

HARRY

I...

GERTRUDE

Harry please! You have a problem!

Harry stands.

HARRY

I don't have a problem!!!

WIFE

You save whatever you want with blatant disregard!

The intervention gets heated as the focus racks to the DROPBOX logo, sitting on the side table next to Grandpa, who is still sound asleep.

AVO

Now, saving whatever you want is not a problem. Get unlimited data with Dropbox for just $9.99 a month. Dropbox, now it's not a problem.